<blockquote> Lycanthrope
Major Supernatural Flaw
You have been cursed to change form into a dangerous predator (such as a wolf, lynx or bear) on nights of the full moon (or similar, monthly astrological events). No items or clothing transform between shapes, and it takes one full round for the full transformation to take effect. You aren't immune to normal weapons, and the curse does not infect bite victims. The animal may be detected as a cursed human with an InAn or InCo spell.
You have the intelligence of an animal while changed, react to all stimuli as an animal, and don't retain any memory of actions in animal form, save occasinally in dreams. You may even not realize that you are under this curse. You still recognize both friends and enemies when changed.
Lycanthropes may transform into a non-magical animal between Size -1 (wolf) and Size +2 (bear). You have the normal physical characteristics of the animal, except that +3 is added to your Soak score (in animal form only). Furthermore, you are fully healed of all wounds incurred in animal form upon resuming human form (wich happens at dawn). <cite>Ars 5 p.55</cite> </blockquote>
